Making a Difference

Homelessness is an important determinant of health, so several CPHP students and faculty took part in the One-Night Count of the homeless last month. They spent the wee hours of a

Friday morning poking through alleys, sidewalks and underground parking garages in the Fremont neighborhood. Students Kyle Davidson, April Wilson, Elliot Swanson, Lina Walkinshaw and Lena Nachand joined faculty members Amy Hagopian (GH, HServ) and Jim Gale (Epi). This year, volunteers across Seattle and King County tallied 3,117 homeless men, women and children – a 14 percent increase from last year. The count project was led by Alison Eisinger, executive director of the Seattle/King County Coalition on Homelessness.

Around the Water Cooler

Stephen Gloyd (GH, HServ, Epi) told a capacity crowd at Kane Hall on Feb. 6 he was “blown away” by the honor to give the annual University Faculty Lecture, “Achieving Health for All in the 21st Century.” If you missed it, you can watch it here.
