Who Knew??

Victoria Holt (Epi) once worked at a fish-packing plant in Maine and also ran a small business repairing wicker chairs. That's when she decided that nursing might be a better career -- and that, of course, led her to public health. Read more about her in this month's Close Up.

Congrats!

MPH Student Alessandra DeMarchis (Nutritional Sciences) won the 2015 Outstanding Student in Women's Health Award at the annual meeting of the Women's Health Dietetic Practice Group of the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics.

For her contributions to HIV prevention in Africa, Elizabeth Bukusi (GH) received the Special Award at the 2015 Biomedical HIV Prevention Forum.

Senior Madison McInnis (DEOHS) was named the 2015 Jack Hatlen Scholar and took part in the Summer Undergraduate Program in Environmental Health with the CDC.

Cynthia LeRouge (HServ) received a contract to help evaluate a VA program designed to improve veterans' timely access to health care. She is working with the VA's George Sayre (HServ).

Congrats to the new Student Public Health Association officers: Brenda Luu (President), Jordan Gemelas (Treasurer), Steffi Molina (Secretary), Nguyen Huynh and Eva Hom (Community Building Officers), and Jennifer Marroquin (Student Development Officer). See the group photo on Facebook.

Making a Difference

The latest issue of TR News, the newsletter of the Transportation Research Board (part of the National Research Council), is devoted entirely to public health. "This is a VERY big deal—equivalent to, say, the official NIH magazine dedicating itself completely to housing, or urban planning," says Dean Howard Frumkin. "It's a major effort at interdisciplinarity, and a major acknowledgment of the importance of health." Andy Dannenberg (DEOHS) co-authored two of the articles: one on why transportation professionals should care about public health and one on the use of health impact assessment for transportation projects and policies. "This special issue," he says, "is part of a long-term effort to further engage the transportation community in promoting healthy transport modes, including walking, bicycling, and use of public transit." See the cover and table of contents. The full issue is in print; the PDF will be online in four months. (Andy has a few extra copies.)

Around the Water Cooler

Liz Lancaster (OD) is the new Director of Finance and Administration and joins us from the School of Medicine. Prior to the UW, Liz worked for local non-profits and developed policy for homelessness and urban development in her native England.

Dec. 10, 12:30-1:20pm
Community Partnership Addressing Pediatric Asthma and Agricultural Environment

We'll keep you busy: take a look at the SPH Events Calendar.
