Making a Difference

About 75 SPH students and staff volunteered at the 2015 Seattle/King County Clinic, which offered free health care for people in need. Volunteers from across the state worked 12-hour shifts at

KeyArena in medical and dental clinics, treating patients, providing foreign-language interpretation, checking in patients and escorting them, and managing waiting areas. Nearly $3.5 million in services were provided to more than 4,000 people over the four days the clinic was open, according to the Seattle/King County Clinic Team.
